

Jeremiah 31:31 “The day is coming,” says the LORD, “when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and Judah.”

“Whether or not you choose to keep your covenant to always remember him, he always remembers you.” Henry B. Eyring

Does Jeremiah’s statement ring a bell? It should. Jesus also spoke to the disciples at the Last Supper of the new covenant that comes about through his blood. This new covenant does not negate what God had with the Israelites’ or his law but fulfills the law and brings in a new covenant of love and forgiveness, mercy and grace. This new covenant will provide a way for all persons to have a personal relationship with God and direct access to his throne. Jeremiah 31:33, “But this is the new covenant I will make with the people of Israel after those days,” says the LORD. “I will put my instructions deep within them, and I will write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people.” He will write upon the hearts of us, his people, not on stone tablets and everyone who seeks him will find him.
